MOTHERS

Few of us have met with such misfortune in this world as to be without charming and tender memories of our mothers. Many of us have not only the memory, but the reality as well. Lexicographers would define the word "Mother" for us with words. Associations give us a clearer definition in pictures.

Someone said once, "There are no good mothers and bad mothers. There are just mothers." We hear so much from Hollywood about mother-types, that should be a race unaccustomed to our traditions and ways, stumble upon our civilization, it would have reason to believe that our devotion is linked only to plump and white haired old ladies, who patiently sit and weep sentimental tears.

Because mothers, like the rest of us, are human beings, and not plaster casts, there are all kinds of mothers. Some mothers are plump and patient; some are angular and energetic; some are toil worn; some have not left youth behind. Mothers will never be come standardized, because to all of us, our own mother, is the mother type.

Remembrance brings a flood of memories of mother, of the times she understood, of the times she tried to understand, and of the times we later learned the understanding better than we. A contemporary poet writing of mother pictures her at the piano with a small child at her feet. That picture to him personified the tenderness of mothers, becoming inseparable in his mind, because of his childhood experience.

Often it is a trivial matter of every day routine which leaves the lasting and endearing remembrance. The moments when she showed an absurd fondness for us; when she struggled in doubt as to her policy, while we, out of sympathy, in our youthful headlessness, we, out of the strain of her task; the moments when we caught a faint glimmering of the truth that mothers can make mistakes and tremble lest they will because they work with such precious material—these are the moments which years never completely blot from our minds.

No man had a greater reverence for his mother than did Lincoln have for his foster mother. To her, throughout his life, he attributed his success. No other one person, has so intimately known our lives during the formative years, as our mothers. No one so well knows our weaknesses, and yet excuses them. No other person is ever so ready with confidence and faith in us and no one so slow to condemn.

Much that we are, most of us owe to our mothers, and this debt, exceeding all others, never can be repaid, for service which is given in devotion, asking no return, requiring courage and fortitude, personal sacrifice and the last reserve of strength, outreaches all the world in value.

Mother's Day is based on sentiment, but a sentiment which is rooted in sincerity. Remembrance of our mothers with gifts is a graceful gesture, but it is inadequate tribute. Remembrance which comes from the heart, recalling the essence of mother-love, is a more perfect tribute, for it brings back the incentive, somehow blurred by the years of separation, to justify her labors in the lives we live.

A STEP IN A LONG JOURNEY

Visitors to the Chicago World's Fair will see the unique electric lighting effects which will form a mile-post marking 40 years of progress in the science of artificial illumination with incandescent lamps.

At the 1893 Chicago World's Fair were seen incandescent lamps in their first application to decorative lighting on a large scale. The lighting of that time would seem humorously crude now, but then it was a miracle. It marked the beginning of a new age in the home. It sounded the deathknell of an age-old type of lighting. It was the pioneer effort that made possible modern electric developments—not only in lighting but in labor-saving power appliances.

Those first lamps weren't viewed with any particular enthusiasm. They were comparatively expensive to buy and to operate. They were uncertain. Burn-outs were the rule, rather than the exception. They required kid-glove handling if they were to work at all. A good many years passed before the public in general was convinced that they were more than a fad. But that conviction finally came, and the perfection of the electric lamp came along with it.

To the homes of fifty years from now our present standards of lighting will seem as crude as those of fifty years ago do to us. The spectacle of lighting at the World's Fair, fine as it will be, will not mark the apex of development—it will simply be one more step in the long march of domestic civilization.

KEEP ON GOING

A remarkable example of the spirit of aggressiveness of American business in meeting the exigencies of depression is found in the progress made by the share-the-work movement.

Its list of sponsors reads like a blue book of industry. A single participant has put 50,000 more people to work in his plants and offices by sharing the work. Another has given work and a livelihood to 35,000. Hundreds of other great industries have, in the same manner, lifted the burden of want from thousands of the unemployed.

But—share-the-work must have the aid of the smaller business if it is to succeed as it should. We hear much of industries that employ a thousand or ten thousand or more workers—but these industries are few and far between. The great bulk of unemployment streams from concerns employing a dozen, or a hundred, or several hundred people. These businesses too, must share-the-work. They must stretch one job into two—if distress due to unemployment is to be banished.

At the moment there are between ten and twelve million unemployed in this country. Millions of them can be given the self-respect that comes with a job by further effort in the work-sharing direction. A recent report indicates that a total of about 1,100,000 people have been given work in this manner—let's hope that record is dwarfed in the months to come.

"When there is a disturbed condition in public affairs, why should not the conservatives begin the clubbing, if the final resort to clubs seems a necessity?"—Ed Howe, Newspaper man of Kansas.

Five Given Bibles

Mrs. Mary Murphy celebrated her ninetieth birthday on Monday and was serenaded by the Allendale band. Grandma Murphy was the first house-mother at Allendale and was a very great help in the early days of Allendale. She is confined to her wheel chair due to rheumatism and advanced age, but her mind is clear and she has a keen interest in the lives of those about her.

Church services are being held on daylight saving time during the summer and the pastor, Rev. C. J. Hewitt, has something interesting every time. Last Sunday five girls of the Junior League, Dorothy Moyer, Pauline Nader, Vanita Phillips, Virginia Hladak and Margaret Walker, who had completed a course of study including memorizing the Apostle's Creed, the Lord's Prayer, the 1st and 23rd Psalms, the Beatitudes, Books of the Bible and facts relating to the church, were presented with Bibles. Misses Marcelle Radcliffe and Charlotte Meyer sang a duet. You are cordially invited to attend church services next Sunday.

The losing side in the recent Sunday school contest, the Blues, entertained the Reds at a social affair at the church last Friday evening and in spite of the rain there was a good attendance.

Junior Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Will Peterson, is in the hospital recovering from an accident last Thursday, when, in playing with children in the yard, he caught hold of a flower box in attempting to steady himself. The box fell and struck him across the abdomen and it is feared that he is injured internally, though he seems to be improving.

Mrs. Kolsow and children of Chicago are out to spend the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sclor.

The German-American Club sponsored a public dance at Tanch's room at Ingleside last Saturday evening.

The Ladies Aid Society is preparing to serve a mother-daughter luncheon at the church on Thursday, May 18th, and the program committee is preparing a splendid program. Mrs. W. J. Fulton of Waukegan, President of the Y. W. C. A., will be the speaker. One of the ticket sellers will call on you very soon that you and your daughter may be there to enjoy this very pleasant gathering.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis of Long Beach, Cal., are visiting Mrs. Lewis' uncle, James Kerr and family. Mrs. Lewis will be remembered by some of the older residents as Flora Kerr. They made the trip by auto and report a very pleasant trip.

Edgar Kerr, with his wife and daughter of Bloomington, Ill., came Saturday for a visit with the home folks and returned Sunday.

Leo Barnstable is in the Victory Memorial hospital for treatment for a streptococcus infection in his finger and is beginning to improve. His daughter, Edna Jean, who has been suffering from swollen glands for the past month, is also on the gain.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kerr of Three Rivers, Wis., were guests of the home folks on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Young of Chicago were visitors at the W. Weber, Jr., and J. Kerr homes on Sunday.

EGG LAYERS IN CONTEST

International Competition at A Century of Progress

Courtesy American Poultry Journal

An aerial view of Chicago Century of Progress which will include an International Egg Laying Contest. The artist's sketch in the right foreground shows the detail of the Poultry Exhibit. Here 3,000 of the best birds of the laying breeds, specially fed and housed, will compete for individual and pen honors every week for 5 months—May 28th to October 29th, 1933.

Millions of city folks along with millions of their country cousins will have the opportunity to see at first hand the operation of modern poultry plants at the Century of Progress Exposition at Chicago, May 28th to October 29th.

More than 3,000 of the best producing hens in the country will be entered in an International Egg Laying Contest under the auspices of the National Poultry Council.

The American public is not consuming the number of eggs annually that our Canadian neighbors are, according to the poultry officials. Harry C. Wood, manager of the International Egg Laying Contest at the Century of Progress, states that Canadians eat 86 more eggs per capita than do U. S. citizens.

"One of the purposes of conducting this exhibit," says Mr. Wood, "is to make millions of new friends for the poultry industry. Also we want to demonstrate in a practical way what good quality eggs really means."

In this effort to prove the producing ability of hens kept under proper conditions and fed according to proper feeding methods, the Official Rules Committee of the Contest has decided upon an Official Egg Laying Mash and Scratch Grain which must be fed to all birds entered. After an exhaustive search for a feed that would meet all requirements the committee selected Purina Breeder Egg Chowder and Purina Hen Chow.

Thus the exhibition of the poultry people will not only be recreational but informative, and as such will be one of the most valuable of exhibitions at the Fair.

One of the best spaces on the ground has been reserved for the exclusive use of the poultry men. Over 100 modern poultry houses each divided into two pens, housing a total of 20 females and 2 males each will form the Poultry Exhibit. At the very entrance to the Poultry Colony will be exhibition pens in which will be housed unusual breeds of chickens so that every visitor can become acquainted with the many varieties and breeds of backyard fiddles.

Every week a model hatchery will produce more than 5,000 baby chicks on regular schedule. These will be packed and shipped to any point in the United States via Uncle Sam's Parcel Post Service. The wisdom of getting offspring from known producers at the Contest will be apparent.

A Broiler Plant where chickens are fattened for market will produce special prices to be sold to visitors.

It is more than a Poultry Show that is getting under way now at top speed for the Century of Progress. It is a demonstration of the value of accumulated research headed by our Agricultural Schools and turned into practical commercial service under the untiring direction of the research division of commercial feed mills.

The same feeds that will be available to the country's best hens at the Century of Progress International Egg Laying Contest are available in exactly the same form to poultry raisers to every part of the country.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Adam and Fallen Man" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, May 7.

The Golden Text was, "O Israel, return unto the Lord thy God; for thou hast fallen by thine iniquity" (Hosea 14:1).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit. For the law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus hath made me free from the law of sin and death" (Romans 8:1, 2).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Through discernment of the spiritual opposite of materiality, even the way through Christ, Truth, man will respect with the key of divine Science the gates of Paradise which human beliefs have closed, and will find himself unfeigned, upright, pure, and free" (p. 171).

Girl Scout News

By Bernice Sherman

At the meeting Monday evening the Girl Scouts played two games. One was an observation game. We each had a piece of paper folded so there were eight folded places. Our leader told the names of eight birds and then when she finished we opened the paper and wrote the name of a bird in each place. Bluebird patrol won in this. The other game was to balance a book on top of your head and walk to the leader. The leader takes the book and runs back and gives it to the next person and so on until the game is done. The object of this game was to show good posture. White Bear won in this. Several members were absent from this meeting.

Correction

'Twas a dark and stormy night. The trainman was signaling the engineer when he dropped his lantern to the ground. Another man tossed it up to the man on the box-car.

In a few minutes the engineer, a new man, came rushing up on the scene. "Let's see you do that again," he said.

"Do what?"

"Jump from the ground to the top of that box-car."

CHOOSING FOODS WISELY

By ADELAIDE SPOHN, Ph. D.

Nutritionist of the Elizabeth McCormick Memorial Fund and Director of Nutrition Service, Illinois Emergency Relief Commission.

Food Sense Saves Food Dollars

We have reason to believe that proper nutrition is the most important single factor in the maintenance of good health. It behooves us therefore in this present situation, when economy has become the watchword of the times, to apply the pruning shears with discrimination. To provide adequate nutrition, the diet of a family must furnish enough carbohydrates, fats and proteins to yield the standard energy needs of the various members of the family group. In interest of economy, we must make these the carriers of the other dietary essentials: first, sufficient proteins of good quality for growth and maintenance of body tissues; second, enough of the essential mineral elements; and third, enough of each of the necessary vitamins.

During the World war, when food saving and economy became necessary, Miss Lucy Gillett, of the New York Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor, gave the following advice: Divide your money into fifths and spend one-fifth, more or less, for fruits and vegetables; one-fifth or more for milk and eggs; one-fifth or less for meat, fish and cereals; one-fifth or more for bread and cereals; one-fifth or less for fats and oils and other groceries. This is still sound advice. Many families on restricted incomes would live more economically and at the same time eat more healthful food, if this plan were followed. If further retrenchment is necessary, this should not be effected by reducing the amount of milk in the diet. The expenditure for milk may well amount to one-third of the week's food budget and somewhat more than one-fifth should be spent for fruits and vegetables. Cereals, the cheapest source of energy, if well chosen, may also supply some of the important minerals and vitamins and should not be reduced. The savings should take place rather in the other two food groups, namely, meat and fish, and fats and sugar.

The following guide for meal planning should prove helpful:

Every Day.

Milk, a pint for each adult and if possible a quart for each child.

Breads and cereals, such as corn meal, oatmeal, wheat cereals, rice, oranges or canned tomatoes, especially for children.

Potatoes. Another vegetable, fresh or canned. Two or three times a week this vegetable should be a green one, such as spinach, cabbage, turnip tops, string beans.

Two to Four Times a Week.

A fruit, dried or fresh. Dried beans or peas. Eggs, especially for children. Meat, fish or cheese.

No matter what scheme is followed in planning well balanced diets, milk is of paramount importance and should be given first consideration. It should never be omitted from the diet, no matter how limited the budget may be. The ideal allowance is a quart of milk for every child and for the pregnant and nursing mother. Every one should have at least a pint of milk each day.

Cereals and breads, of necessity, make up the bulk of a low cost diet. Some whole grain cereals, such as oatmeal, whole wheat cereal and brown rice, should be included, since they are particularly rich in vitamin B, in phosphorus and iron.

Fruits and vegetables are the third essential group of foods. The citrus fruits lead the list in importance and should be used generously when they are cheap. Fortunately when this is not the case, tomato juice, either canned or fresh, may take their place in the diet as a valuable source of vitamin C. Only fruits and vegetables in season should be chosen. Apples may be bought at a low price during most of the year. Lemons are often cheap and when properly ripened, are an excellent food, even for children. The dried fruits, especially prunes, apricots, peaches and black figs should be used generously. They are cheap and an excellent source of iron. Potatoes should be used at least once a day or even more often in extremely low cost diets. At least one other vegetable should be provided each day.

High School Students' Concert Will Present Range of Compositions

A concert including a wide range of musical compositions in which High School music groups will make their first appearance, will be presented Friday night at the Antioch Township High School Auditorium at 8 o'clock under the direction of Hans Von Holwede. A dance will follow the concert.

Mr. Von Holwede states that the music organizations of the High School are now at the peak of the season following intensive training for the festival to be held at Bensenville next week.

Acappella Choral Singing
A highlight of the concert will be the acappella singing by the chorus. An old Greek liturgy, 2000 years old, will be sung, "Grandiose Overture" and several marches will be played by the band. The orchestra will play two overtures and "Mousetta," "Chorubim Song" and "Green Cathedral" will be sung by the Girls Glee Club. "O, Best Are They," "O, Singing Land" and "All Through the Night" will be the selections of the chorus. There will also be selections by the Boys Glee Club. Following the concert, the jazz band will play for a dance.

These groups, with groups from nine other schools in this district will enter the Festival at Bensenville Friday, May 19.

Bensenville Festival

The combined musical talent from the ten member schools will be brought together and presented as a unit under the capable and inspirational direction of Mr. Raymond F. Dvorak, director of men's glee clubs and assistant director of band at the University of Illinois. Solving the Mysteries of Chick Growth

Solving the Mysteries of Chick Growth

RATIONS A, B AND C HAD SAME ANALYSIS... CHICKS HAD SAME PARENTAGE

DIFFERENCE DUE TO AMOUNT OF EACH INGREDIENT USED

Source: Purina Mills Research Report 1452

Greater Knowledge Brings Improvement in Feeding

Chemists can analyze any food product and tell you exactly how much protein, carbohydrate, fat, fibre, and minerals are contained in the various feeds for livestock and poultry. Thus for many years livestock and poultry feeds were judged according to their chemical analysis. Even today state inspections of feed are on that basis. Lately, however, more advanced research has proved that chemical analysis is not sufficient to be a true index of feed value.

"For years scientists have known that proteins from different sources, such as linseed meal, soy bean meal, meat scrap, fish meal, and dried milk vary widely in their effectiveness on chick growth and development," states Dr. H. J. Smith, Director of the Research Work of Purina Mills. "In our Laboratory and on our farms, we have devoted much of our research efforts for several years toward discovering the protein combinations which best supply the needs of baby chicks and growing poultry. To the best of my knowledge, not any one previously and very few since have investigated in so comprehensive a manner as we have the problem of the exact proportions to be used for best results."

Poultry raisers now have available a mash that is as far advanced in its way as modern transportation. Any poultry breeder can see by the accompanying chart how chicks from the same parents, hatched on the same day compare under the old and new method.

The results shown in the chart are typical of a score of "repeats" of the original. Each test was conducted under the careful direction of qualified research men, who observed in every detail the rigid rules of scientific procedure.

The practical application of this newer knowledge of feeds in chick raising comes in having broilers ready to sell at earlier ages, and produced at a lower cost per pound. Too, pullets mature earlier under the new methods, having 10.84 eggs to their credit before pullets fed under ordinary methods start to lay. Research of this kind means much to a poultry flock owner because he can translate the results obtained into the kind of action that means profits to him.

CHOOSING FOODS WISELY

By ADELAIDE SPOHN, Ph. D.

Nutritionist of the Elizabeth McCormick Memorial Fund and Director of Nutrition Service, Illinois Emergency Relief Commission.

Adventures in Food

Today many of us find that we must depend more upon our own resources for variety and entertainment and less on travel and other expensive amusements. The ingenuity of the American woman finds many opportunities for variety and adventure in her own home. The kitchen with its raw materials ready to be developed into any number of delicious new dishes offers a challenge to any woman's skill in providing variety for herself and her family.

Here are a few inexpensive ways of dressing up the old standbys. Try them and see if they do not turn out to be so unusual and appetizing that you could appropriately give them French names. Just to show what can be done let us start with cabbage. Here is one way of transforming it into an aristocrat. Shred the cabbage in long, fine strips and mix with a little grated raw carrot, a few carrot strips, some threads of green pepper, a hint of onion juice, dash of salt and sugar. Toss lightly in lemon juice, or weak vinegar and chill thoroughly.

Puddings and custards are not always desserts. Try these to be served with the meat and potatoes:

Corn Pudding.

(Serves Six)
1 No. 1½ can corn
3 cups milk
1½ tbsp. sugar
3 eggs, slightly beaten
½ green pepper, chopped
½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. pepper
2 tbsp. butter
3 cups soft bread crumbs
½ cup butter
1 cup bread crumbs

Mix all the ingredients except the buttered bread crumbs. Put into a buttered baking pan and cover with buttered crumbs. Bake one hour in slow oven (250° to 300° Fahrenheit).

Carrot Custard.

(Serves Six)
3 eggs
1½ cups grated raw carrot or mashed cooked carrot
3 cups milk
1 tsp. salt
2 tbsp. melted butter

Beat the eggs slightly, add the other ingredients, pour into a greased baking dish; place on a rack in a pan of hot water and bake for about one hour in a moderate oven (300° to 350° F.). Serve at once.

And speaking of things that are not what they seem, here is a loaf that is made of vegetables instead of meat. Incidentally, this is also a good lettuce dish.

Adelaide Spohn, Ph. D.

Vegetarian Loaf.

(Serves Four)

1 cup peas
¼ cup chopped nuts
¼ cup dried bread crumbs
1 egg
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. pepper
2 tbsp. melted butter
½ cup milk

Drain peas and rub through a strainer. Add the other ingredients, mix well and put into a small buttered bread pan. Cover with oiled paper and bake forty minutes in a slow oven (250° to 300° F.).

Even bread can appear in unusual forms. Here's a recipe for chocolate bread pudding that is popular with the men and is economical. It serves five people.

1 pint milk
1 cup bread crumbs
4 tbsp. cocoa
Scald milk, remove from fire, add crumbs and let stand ten minutes. Mix cocoa, sugar and salt and add the beaten egg yolks. Pour this mixture into egg yolks, fold in the beaten egg whites. Pour into buttered baking dish, set in pan of water and bake 45 minutes to an hour in a slow oven (250° to 300° F.).

Are you one of the many housewives who have just about run out of interesting ways to include liver in your family's diet? Next time you are perplexed, try this:

1 pound liver
1 quart thin sliced potatoes
1 small onion, minced
1½ cups milk
Salt and pepper
3 tbsp. lard

Place liver in boiling water for ten minutes and drain. Salt and flour the liver, brown slightly in fat. Place a layer of raw potatoes in a greased baking dish, sprinkle with salt and pepper. Add some of the liver and onion and continue until all are used. The top layer should be of potatoes. Pour on the milk, cover and bake for one hour in a moderate oven (300° to 350° F.). At the last remove cover and allow to brown.

Eating Roosevelt Salad?

The Roosevelt Salad was first introduced in the Senate Restaurant on inauguration day as a compliment to President Roosevelt and now is eaten daily by United States Senators, foreign diplomats and government officials, and its popularity has spread throughout the country. This new national salad consists of chopped celery, shredded white and red cabbage, green peppers, diced carrots and French peas, thoroughly mixed in a cup of mayonnaise and served on crisp lettuce, garnished with stuffed olives.

Because all of the ingredients are easily and cheaply obtained, food purveyors in all parts of the country report the new salad has become unusually popular as a spring appetizer.

Is your spare room ready?

● IT'S GOING to be a busy summer for guest rooms! Company's coming. Relatives and old friends will be traveling hundreds of miles to Chicago for the Century of Progress Exposition. Surely you'll want them to spend a few days with you before they go back.

How does your spare room look? Is it ready for guests? We know it's spic-and-span clean, of course. But is it as cheerful and homey as you'd like it?

If it's just a little on the drab side, we suggest new lamps. Nothing brightens up a room with friendly charm the way lamps do. Put one on the bedside table, perhaps a twin set on the dresser, a junior floor lamp beside the easy chair—and see the wonderful difference they make!

These lamps needn't be expensive. Displays now featured at your local lamp dealers and at your Public Service Store include many good-looking models priced under $5. You'll find some unusual values in lighting fixtures, too.

Electrical helpers like a vacuum cleaner, a washing machine, an automatic ironer and a food mixer will make it much easier for you to keep your household running smoothly when company comes. They let you speed through your chores without tiring yourself out. They're economical, too. A penny or two an hour is all they cost to operate.

HintsCotton Is Ultra Fashionable Fabric
in Summer's Fashions for Every Use

Planning a summer wardrobe when the weather has given us few glimpses of spring, is an arduous task, and yet it's a wise policy to be forearmed for that sudden change in weather which will send us searching for sleeveless, cool, pastel frocks.

This summer is to be definitely ruled in the fashion world by cotton. Dance frocks for formal evening wear, evening wraps, gloves, shoes, hats and even bathing suits of cotton, in the variety of new materials, are forecast as the fashion leaders by the stylists.

Gloves in piques, waffle weaves, mesh for sports wear, as well as the old chambray cloth are being featured in white and light shades. Piques, and to a less degree, other cottons, are popular for hat materials. Linen is not being forgotten, but linen is less new.

Ubiquitous Pique
What to include in a summer wardrobe depends on what the wearer's activities will be for the summer. The casual sun-tan back, sleeveless, pique dress, is an item which will fit well into any wardrobe, and it will appropriately serve for many care-free occasions which come up during the season. The plain striped shirt-waist dress is another inexpensive dress which will be welcomed. Both of these have chic, are easily washed, and are presentable and comfortable for picnics, for morning wear on vacation trips to the country and around the house.

Cottons are coming out this summer in navies, browns and other dark shades for summer wear. Fashioned with jackets, along the lines of tailored street models, they are a welcome solution to the problem of what to wear on a trip to the city on these wifling summer days when silks cling to the skin, and light dresses are wrinkled and dingy looking by the end of the day.

Navy blue or brown one piece dresses, made with jackets of the same material, are especially practical in case of rain, since that material wrinkles very little. Linen is smart in dark colors but has the disadvantage of quickly losing its freshness. This type of dress makes an attractive travel costume.

Volle is a material which we are particularly inclined to slight at this time of year before wifling summer weather has proved again the two fold virtues of this material which preserves its freshness and is cool.

Volle in Smart Designs
Volle in the smartly designed patterns which are promised for this year, can be worn from morning until night. Volle in light floral designs will make attractive, inexpensive house frocks. It is entirely practical for this purpose, launders with a minimum of trouble, and keeps the housewife from having that harassed looking cleaning-laundering appearance if chance callers drop in.

During mid-summer, volle will share popularity with organdy in the romantic dance frock styles. Patterns which include polka dots, large and small, all over tracery which simulates lace, plaids, and pin-stripes, will give the woman who makes or has her clothes made, a difficult time in making her choice.

Linen of course, will be worn this summer, in white, pastels and the darker shades. Eyelet linens are making a bid for a prominent position in summer fashions, where no doubt they will rank. Eyelet batistes, so popular last summer, will be welcomed back this season, for they have proved cool as well as dainty and easy to launder.

Cotton faces no other popular fabric of this summer. Organdy for afternoon party wear, informal dinners, and dances will have no rival in popularity. Undoubtedly chiffons will be worn this year, but they lack the novelty which organdy enjoys.

Undoubtedly, too, wash silks, especially silk piques, will be in the picture for sports and informal summer wear. Crope sheers, which make such practical summer frocks, will also be worn.

Cotton is the ultra fashionable summer fabric this year, but all wardrobes need variety to be interesting and entirely adequate. At least two dresses which will serve well for chill or damp summer days are needed. A sheer will do very well for one of these, and a knit is usually a sensible addition to the wardrobe. The new cotton knits, called string, will be smart on the golf links and for all around wear. They can be matched in hats, gloves and shoes.

UP at our house we'll go spring for more reasons than one, and here are four of them. They're all family desserts, too—which is why I especially like them and want to share them with you.

Rhubarb and Strawberry Tapioca

1/2 cup quick-cooking tapioca; 1/2 teaspoon salt; 3/4 cups hot water; 3 cups rhubarb, cut in pieces; 1 1/2 cups sugar; 1 cup fresh strawberries, cut in halves. Add quick-cooking tapioca and salt to water, and cook in double boiler about 8 minutes, or until slightly thickened; then add rhubarb and cook 10 minutes longer, or until tapioca is clear, stirring frequently. Add sugar, remove from fire, add berries and chili. Put lightly in sterilized glasses. Garnish with whole berries. Serves 8.

Strawberry Tapioca Flamingo

1 quart fresh strawberries, hulled; 1 cup sugar; 1/2 cup quick-cooking tapioca; 1/2 teaspoon salt; 2 3/4 cups boiling water; 2 cups strawberry juice, drained from berries; 1/2 cup cream, whipped. Crush strawberries slightly, add sugar, and let stand 30 minutes or longer. Add quick-cooking tapioca and salt to water, and cook in double boiler 15 minutes, or until tapioca is clear, stirring frequently. Add strawberry juice to tapioca mixture. Chill. Pour 1/2 of this mixture into parfait glasses. Fold cream into remaining tapioca mixture and fill glasses. Chill. Just before serving, top with crushed strawberries. Serves 8.

Rhubarb Minute Tapioca

3 cups rhubarb, cut in pieces; 4 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca; 1 1/2 cups hot water; 1 1/2 cups sugar; 1/2 teaspoon salt. Add rhubarb and quick-cooking tapioca to water, and cook in double boiler 15 minutes, or until tapioca is clear, stirring frequently. Add sugar and salt. Cook a few minutes longer, or until sugar is dissolved. Chill and serve with whipped cream. Serves 8.

Fresh Strawberry Pie

1 quart fresh strawberries, hulled and cut in pieces; 1 cup sugar; 3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca; Pie crust. Combine strawberries, sugar, and quick-cooking tapioca, and let stand 15 minutes, or while pastry is being made. Line a 9-inch pie plate with 1/2 of pastry, rolled 1/8 inch thick, allowing pastry to extend 1/2 inch beyond edge of plate. Fill with berry mixture. Moisten edge of pastry with cold water and fold inward over rim of plate. Moisten edge again. Roll other half of pastry to 1/8-inch thickness. Fold half the pastry back on other half. With sharp knife make several slits to permit escape of steam. Place upper crust on lined lower one, opening out folded half after it is placed on pie, and drawing snugly across top to prevent sagging at edges. Press edges together. Trim off surplus pastry, being careful not to cut folded edge of lower crust. Bake in hot oven (425° F.) 15 minutes; then decrease heat to moderate (350° F.) and bake 50 minutes longer, or until done.

Star Beam Will Open Chicago's World's Fair
Arcturus Harnessed for Exposition Premiere

Dr. Edwin B. Frost, former director of Yerkes Observatory, who originated the idea to capture star ray 40 light years away.
L. N. S. Photo

FOR the first time in history, man will reach into the far expanse beyond the solar system to harness the energy of a star for the opening of a great exposition, when Chicago's 1933 World's Fair—A Century of Progress—launches its spectacular lighting display on the night of June 1.

The theme of the Exposition—that of man's progress by the application of science to industry—will thus be truly symbolized with history-making ceremonies, in which the Star Arcturus, 240 trillion miles distant from the earth, or 40 light years, will actually throw switches controlling amazing combinations of light.

That science can delve into the vault of heaven for the impulse necessary, will challenge the imagination of throngs assembled for the opening, or who will listen to national radio broadcasts. Here will be dramatized the advancement made by science during the past century, and perhaps forecast wonders to be revealed in the future.

Arcturus was singled out from the heavenly galaxy as the guiding star of the Fair due to its historical significance in the march of events in Chicago's progress. Rays that left the star 40 years ago, at the time the World's Columbian Exposition opened, have been traveling through space, 180,000 miles a second, and will reach Chicago at the very time A Century of Progress opens its gates to the world.

Scientists Co-operate
Foremost scientists and engineers, working with four astronomical observatories in various sections of the United States, have made possible this amazing demonstration of mankind's triumph over space and time. Months of research, the construction and adjustment of delicately sensitive instruments, have gone into the working out of plans.

Technicians and engineers of the General Electric Company and Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company have been co-operating for months in completing arrangements.

Dr. Edwin B. Frost, former director of Yerkes Observatory at Williams Bay, Wis., one of the greatest of living astronomers, conceived the idea that it would be entirely possible to capture the rays of Arcturus for the unique Fair opening.

Acting upon his suggestion, sponsors of A Century of Progress called together a distinguished group of scientists and astronomers. Otto Struve, now director of Yerkes Observatory; Harlow Shapley, director of Harvard Observatory; Camille Dreyer, Robert Baker, director of University of Illinois Observatory at Urbana; and Frank C. Jordan, director of the University of Pittsburgh Observatory at Allegheny, Pa., were enlisted to enact this dramatic event.

Arrange Broadcasts

General Electric engineers have agreed to be responsible for installation of the necessary equipment at Yerkes and Harvard Observatories, while Westinghouse will take control of the demonstration at the Allegheny and Urbana Observatories. Transmission of the star impulse will be over the lines of the Western Union Telegraph Company. Engineers have also arranged for a national radio broadcast of the opening ceremonies.

The program is scheduled to get under way at about 9:15 p. m., Eastern Standard Time, when all four telescopes will point their lenses toward Arcturus. The beam will then be focused on a tiny photo-electric cell at the "eye end" of the instruments, where it will be amplified and transmitted over communicating telegraph lines to receiving apparatuses on the Exposition grounds.

In each observatory a photo-electric tube and amplification equipment will be provided to operate a relay closing circuit in the telegraph line. A radio broadcast receiver, tuned in to the Exposition opening program, will notify the operator when to allow his telescope to project the star's light on the electric eye, the impulse of which will close his local circuit to the wire.

Acting as liaison officer between the various agencies is Dr. Phillip Fox, director of Adler Planetarium.

Location of Star

To locate the star in the summer evening skies is a simple matter. First find the Great Dipper constellation, and follow the curve of its "handle" for about the same distance as the handle and there will be seen a brightly glowing star, Arcturus, which is at the lower end of the kite-shaped constellation Boötes.

Facing the north, the sky-gazer will also observe the brilliant conjunction of the crescent Moon, Jupiter and Mars, to the west of Arcturus at about the same distance that star lies from the top of the Big Dipper.

It was the imagination of the ancient Greeks that gave Arcturus its name. The name means "Watcher of the Bear" because it is contiguous to the constellation of the Great Bear, and appears to be guiding the course, or acting, in a sense, as a guardian of the Great Bear which is formed by Ursa Major.

When Bees Require to Be Winter Fed

Matter Worthy of the Most Careful Attention.

Two methods of winter-feeding bees are suggested by H. U. Richmond, deputy state entomologist at the Columbia Agricultural College, for use in colonies where the honey crop was short last autumn and starvation is showing up.

"Winter feeding should not be practiced unless absolutely necessary," Richmond says, "because it disturbs the bees, causes loss among the workers and generally results in queenless colonies. Consider before feeding if the colony is worth it and if the bees would live even if fed."

Where the colony has a queen and the cluster includes four frames, proper feeding of capped honey in frames placed just inside the cluster of bees to replace the empty frames, is the only real satisfactory method, he says. The honey should be partly liquid, the more liquid the better and must be from healthy colonies. If the orchard if the honey is not known to be safe, it should not be used under any circumstances, he warns.

One of two standard flat frames of honey should be enough. To carry a normal colony from four to six weeks depending on how early brood rearing starts. If abundant honey in frames is available, six frames may be added and the colony will be insured against further shortage if the honey flow starts in May.

An emergency feed may be made as a substitute candy of sugar with proper dose of two pounds of sugar to one pound of water, hot water being used to dissolve the sugar. To each 2 pounds of sugar add one teaspoonful of tartaric acid. Boil until the mixture reaches 250 degrees F. and add, by kneading powdered sugar until a very stiff candy is made. Roll the candy to a thin slab and place on top of the frames in the hive.

The candy should be very stiff, making it difficult to pinch off and the powdered sugar must be free from lumps, as lumps are indigestible to bees.

Butter Supply Must Be From TR-Free Sources

Cleveland, Ohio, as a city ordinance, requiring that butter sold in the city must come from the milk of cows that have passed the tuberculosis test. The ordinance became effective January 1, 1932.

Cleveland officials anticipate no serious opposition to the enforcement of the new ordinance. Tentative arrangements have already been made for the proper labeling of butter from tuberculin-tested sources so that it may be readily identified. It is understood that the term "tuberculin-tested source" means an area in which the dairy herds have been tested under federal and state supervision and which is officially designated as a "modified accredited area," that is an area in which not more than one-half of 1 per cent of the cattle are tuberculous.

Limestone for Stock

Powdered limestone as a substitute for alfalfa has produced satisfactory results in fattening cattle at the Kansas agricultural experiment station. One-tenth of a pound of finely ground limestone, substituted for two pounds of alfalfa hay produced slightly larger average daily gains to the Kansas tests. The profits per head were also in favor of the cattle fed ground limestone.

The rations in which the alfalfa hay and powdered limestone were compared included corn, cottonseed meal and silage. The tests indicate that rice may be satisfactorily supplemented with powdered ground limestone which acts as a substitute for alfalfa.

U. of I. Seeks 21% Less Than Two Years Ago

Legislative Request Is Also 25% Less Than 1929-31 Appropriation.

The University of Illinois has reduced by $2,850,000 its legislative request for the coming biennium as compared to the appropriation made to it by the last General Assembly. President H. W. Chase has announced. The new bill asks for $8,900,000 while $11,250,000 was the amount granted two years ago.

The new request is 21 per cent less than that appropriated to the University by the last legislature, and 25 per cent less than the appropriation of 1929-31.

"Salaries of the faculty and administrative staff have already been reduced 10%, and the Board of Trustees has made a reduction of $200,000 in the salaries item of the proposed legislative budget," President Chase said. "The board decided to reduce this item as well as all other items which make up the biennial budget. Consequently the budget which the University will submit to the legislature will call for a total of only $1,450,000 a year for the next biennium."

The last general assembly appropriated $11,250,000 for the two-year period, which included $1,400,000 for the staff of the Medical and Dental buildings in Chicago. This money, however, was not used. It was explained, because of the State's financial condition, and, in addition, the University carried other expenditures so that a total of approximately $1,400,000 of the appropriation will be unused. The University's savings for the present biennium, therefore, amount to more than $2,850,000.

"In order to do this, it has been obliged to operate on an emergency basis and it cannot therefore continue on such a total for the next two years without a reduction in salaries."

"On the basis of our last appropriation we were granted an amount which represented 74 cents per capita of population. We will have used, however, by the end of the University year, only 55 cents per capita."

"In fairness to education and to the University itself, the public should bear in mind that if the legislature decided to curtail the University's annual saving which would result would amount to only about seven-tenths of one cent on the average per dollar in property taxes."

"Looked at from this point of view, the money invested by the citizens of Illinois in their University is no widerly spread than the cost is no burden to any individual."

"Aside from its teaching services, the results which have come out of the University's research laboratories contribute many millions of dollars yearly to the economic welfare of the State."

However, the University is faced with the fact that it is its prime duty to maintain the educational standards of the institution, and, although there are fewer students attending the University than there were two or three years ago, there are still more than 10,000 enrolled. While the decrease in attendance has been greatest in the freshmen and sophomore classes where the expense of instruction is lowest, the number of graduate students has shown practically no decrease from the peak and is now twice as many as in 1921. Likewise, there has been no decrease in the college of medicine or in the college of law or other branches where the expense of instruction is highest.

The financial support of the University comes in part from state appropriations, in part from student fees, in part from Federal appropriations, most of which are for specific activities, and in part from incidental sales of surplus products resulting from its teaching and research work. The general concept of the University was that it should be a place where students may secure a college education at little or no expense for tuition. Certain fees, however, are charged in all departments in accordance with the general policy in such institutions based on the theory that the person who receives the immediate benefit should pay at least a portion of the cost.

State appropriations make up about 70% of the total income of the University, derived partly from the General Revenue Fund of the state and partly from a special tax of 3 1/2 cents per hundred dollars of assessed valuation for the support of the University. Of the property taxes paid for all purposes in 1931 by the citizens of the state, about seven-tenths of one cent per dollar were used for the support of the University.

In 1932 the Federal tax on tobacco consumed by the citizens of Illinois exceeded by $1,075,752 the amount asked to operate the University next year. According to the report of Internal Revenue receipts from Illinois, the tobacco tax paid was $2,572,722. In 1931 the tax was $4,525,022. The University asks $1,000,000 a year for the next two years.

"I am for educational economies. But I am not for any crippling of our system of public education. We are being asked today to train men and women for a world where the future is far from clear. Our schools are our insurance for the future."—H. W. Chase, President, U. of I.

As hubby came through the door his wife dropped the phone receiver and ran to him gasping:
"Oh, darling, I'm so glad you're home. They said some idiot had fallen over the south creek bridge and I was afraid it was you!"

A girl met an old flame and decided to "high-tail" him.
"Sorry," she murmured, when the heaviest introduced him to her. "I didn't get your name."
"I know you didn't," replied the old flame, "but you tried hard enough."

The teacher was testing the knowledge of the kindergarten class. Slapping a half dollar on the desk, she said sharply, "What is that?"
Instantly a voice from the back row: "Tallies!"
